What knowledge and skills provided in your program were most useful to you in your career? Why?

Text Entry

My degree in itself helped me get my job.

Everything!

Family centered social work

CBT, Mindfulness and Solution-Focused Therapy

Policy classes

Community practice- and Group practice because much of my work is in a community setting

School social work classes.

The program and specifically the internships helped me to build a network of professionals within the field, knowledge of gerontology work and resources that I use extensively in my current position.

Diversity. I work in a school district with a high rate of poverty, very diverse population. I also work with families, individual students and at a program level.

Providing client centered care, description of mental illness, and using strengths based and solution focused theories have been useful in my career because it has allowed me to work with my clients on creating a list of goals that works for them and we can work together on achieving those goals.

Play therapy has been extremely helpful in my current position because the majority of my clients are children and adolescents so I pull from the skills frequently. I had been working in the field for close to ten years while in graduate school. All the courses helped refine my skills and expand my knowledge.

researching and analyzing data; volunteer and leadership skills

Group discussions with classmates in the classroom setting.

DU taught me the true meaning of inclusion, equity, LGBT. I really was stretched and grew so much in my journey with DU.

Many of my clients are refugees and its important to show compassion. I have learned this and empathy through my time in school.

No more than when I began the program

I am working in an alternative program in a middle school with children who come from hard places. I am working with these students to help them realize their own potential and to learn the social emotional skills they need to thrive.

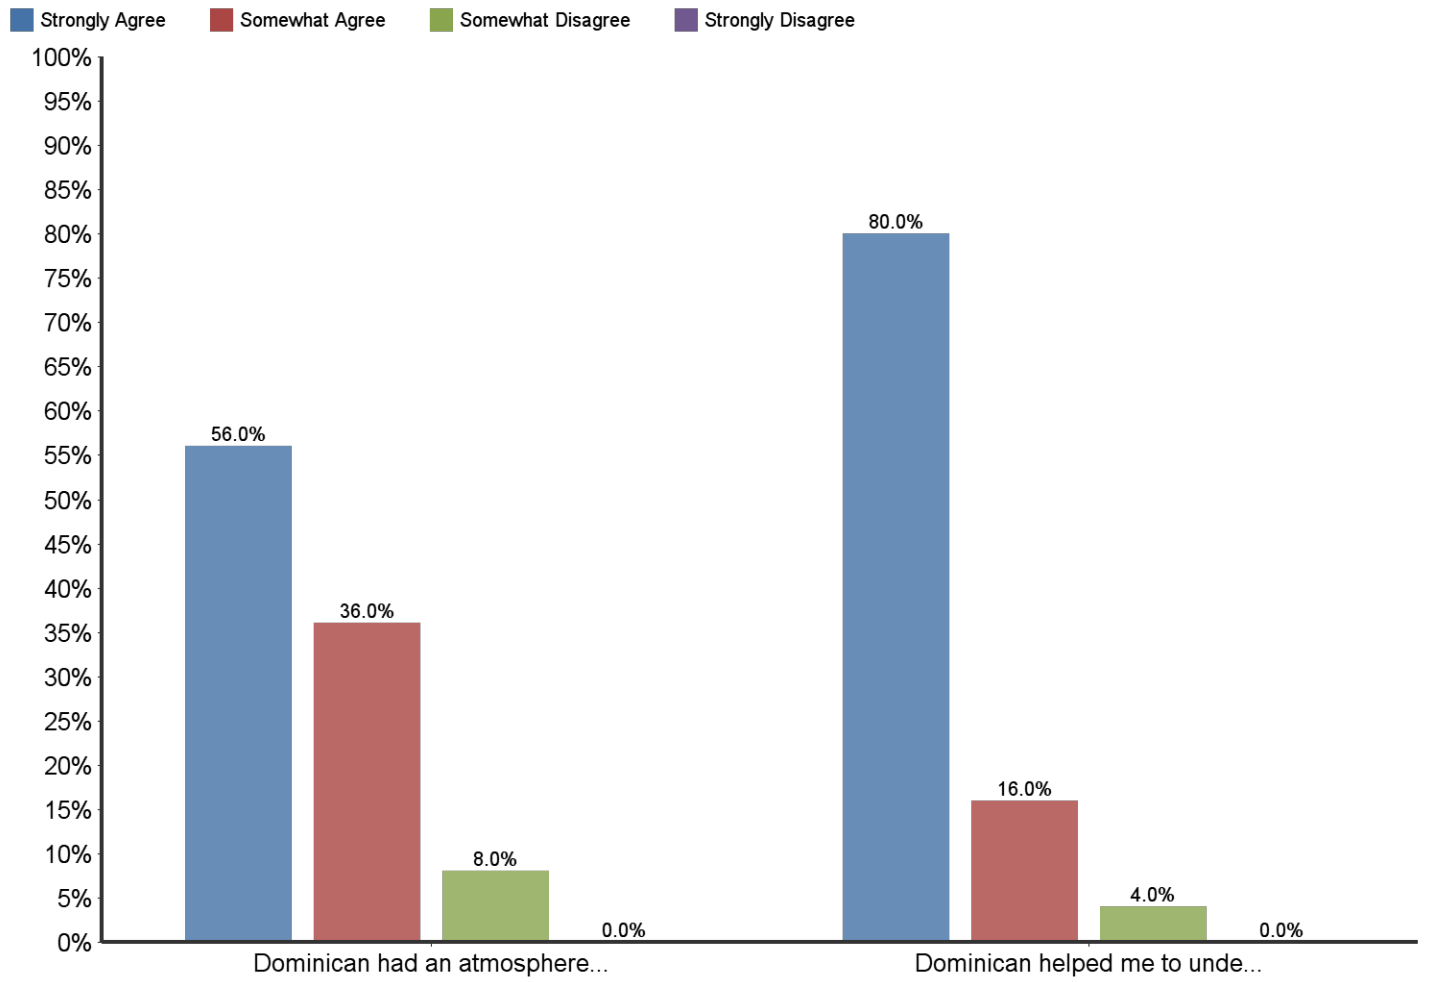

I am unbiased and nonjudgemental. Everyone deserves services

The learning which took place in the classroom was always accompanied with unlearning and reassessing the ways in which we look at the world; those around us; the systems and institutions we navigate.

Throughout my time at Dominican University we did many in class activities and group projects that allowed me to learn more about social work and the impact I can make on my community. I was able to prepare myself for work in this field and I feel as though I am ready to take on any task that comes my way in order to provide the best care for my clients.

I am forever grateful for DU. I would love to get a MA in ED unfortunately is not offered here.

Although our community at the Grayslake campus was small, my graduating class and I had a very tight knit bond and I am so thankful for the amazing classmates and professors I was able to meet through this program.

I enjoyed that a variety of different subjects were explored and discussed. I wish the students were more diverse though.

The faculty of the social work program appeared to have poor relationships and did not model a professional learning environment that promoted an effective display of the tbi method used in the classroom. I also found the that the program was limited in promoting intellectual stimulation and growth. I also thought the program was not much of a challenge academically and could do much better cultivating coursework that provided greater critical thinking skills and analytical skills.

I enjoyed my experience at Dominican. Most of the faculty were amazing and supportive. I enjoyed being able to take most of my classes in Grayslake. I also appreciated the opportunity to travel to Guatemala. It was a life changing experience.
